

Office of Catholic Schools restructures leadership, welcomes four new positions

*Sister Cecilia Duran, ODN
Director of Catholic Schools*

Diocesan leaders are pleased to announce a new leadership model in the Office of Catholic Schools that will provide greater support and promotion of Catholic education throughout the Diocese.

*Nathan Hauser Arnold
Associate Director of Leadership and Management*

Effective July 1, four new Duran leaders will begin their ministry, led by Sister Cecilia Duran, ODN, who will serve as Director of Catholic Schools. Sr. Cecilia brings over 40 years of experience in education with 30 of those years in Catholic school leadership. Joining her will be new Associate Director of Leadership and Management Nathan Hauser Arnold, former principal at St. Edward School in Corona, who brings over 17 years of teaching experience in Catholic schools and seven years of school leadership. The new Associate Director of Academic Excellence is Christine Hanna, former Assistant Principal at Sacred Heart School in Rancho Cucamonga, who holds multiple subject credentials. The new Associate Director of Mission and Catholic Identity is Edgardo Juarez, who has recently served as the Director of the Office of Ministry with Young Catholics. Lastly, David Dolores, who is the current Senior Development Officer of the Office of Mission Advancement, will serve as a liaison between the two offices and focus on marketing and fundraising for the Catholic schools. We welcome our new Catholic School leaders! Please keep them in your prayers.
